Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 09 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Heavy rain accompanied by strong winds, but milder than recently.

This Evening and Tonight:
Late this evening and into the night, heavy, persistent rain will spread across the region. Heaviest in southern areas overnight, but easing towards dawn. Accompanied by strong winds throughout, with coastal gales developing in the early hours. Milder than recently. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
Though initially dry in northernmost areas, unsettled conditions are expected throughout, with persistent rain, occasionally heavy, and continued strong winds. Locally heavy showers overnight, with gales throughout. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Continued frequent blustery showers, heavy at times, on Thursday and Friday with strong winds, and a sustained risk of gales initially. Further showers on Saturday, but slightly less blustery.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.